Decades of Brightening the Lives of People with Autism

“You gave my son a voice. You taught him how to learn. You taught him how to play. You made him more aware. I am so grateful, that I can’t put it into words. Thank you.”

–Mother of Ray

Center for Spectrum Services mission is to enable and empower our students to develop to their maximum potential in their communities. We believe that collaboration between staff, families, and the community is the foundation of our school.

In the early years, parents whose children were diagnosed with autism faced their child's future with confusion and anxiety, believing their child's potential might never be realized. In that climate, two special education professionals and pioneers in this field, Susan Buckler and Jamey Wolff, created the Children's Annex with just two students in a church basement in Woodstock, New York.

Decades later, Center for Spectrum Services is considered a model school and is highly regarded for fostering the potential of every child by using research-based educational practices.

Each year, parents throughout the Hudson Valley reach out to Center for Spectrum Services for support and guidance in a safe and caring setting. Our professional staff provides programs at home, in community settings, and in our Kingston and Ellenville schools.

Center-Based Students

- Eighteen months to twelve years of age
- Autism Spectrum Disorders and related developmental disabilities
- Wide range of abilities and needs

The Program in Kingston and Ellenville

- Full Day Programs
- Intensive staff/student ratio
- Research-based teaching methodologies
- Collaboration across the disciplines
- State-of-the-art strategies to promote verbal behavior, social & academic skills

Our educators, clinicians and therapists are experts in their field with an abiding dedication to, and compassion for, our children. Their ultimate goal is to bring forth the untapped potential in every child by:

- Assessing each child's unique strengths and needs
- Developing an individualized approach to facilitate learning
- Improving outcomes with data-based decision making
- Establishing nurturing relationships that enhance learning
- Capturing and arranging opportunities for communication
- Supporting the child's unique neurological and sensory profile

Professional Services Include:

- Special education
- Speech and language therapy
- Occupational therapy
- Physical therapy
- Adaptive physical education
- Psychological counseling
- Social skills groups
- Parent counseling and training
- Family service coordination
- Nursing services

Spectrum Services Outreach Services: Clinicians and Educators with Expertise in Autism

As leaders in the field, our expert clinicians provide support to programs, families, and individuals throughout the Hudson Valley.

- State-of-the-Art Diagnostic Evaluations and Developmental Assessments for people of all ages
- Community-based Early Intervention services for eighteen months to three years
- Individual and Family Counseling and Social Skills Groups for children and teens attending public school programs
- Consultations to public schools, private agencies, families, and individuals
- Workshops, conferences and seminars for parents, caregivers and professionals seeking the best practices in autism treatment

“It has been, and always will be,
about the children.”

When we started Spectrum Services, we had a vision that these special children deserved educational opportunities they otherwise would never get. However, it is no longer just our vision. The vision is now shared by countless individuals: in the families we serve, our dedicated staff, the school districts that send us their students, and the individuals and businesses that support us.

-Susan Buckler and Jamey Wolff, Co-Founders
